

Miquel Adrover Caldentey was born in S'Horta, Mallorca, in 1965. His connection with literature sprang from his love of reading. However, as early as 1989, he started collaborating with Diario de Mallorca as a correspondent in Felanitx and Santanyí.

During his collaboration with Televisión Felanitxera, he worked in three different programmes: one was Temps d'Estiu, and the other two, of cultural nature, Cosas Nostras and S'Àgora.

In September 2002, he joined the newly born Santanyí Radio, with the programme Punto de Encuentro, followed by many more. He also joined the editorial staff of the magazine "El Sud" and of "Felanitxer".

In 2005, he published his first work, Reculls de Saviessa. In 2006, he wrote the play Ven... te contaré un cuento. In 2008, he published Cuentos de Sabiduría (Ed. Heptaseven). In 2009, he took part in the "Encuentro de poesía Francesc Calvet" in Menorca, and published Silbidos de Gloria, a biography of Kurt Savoy. In 2010, he published his first poetry book Fred al cor.
